Who Should Attend

This training program is designed for play therapists, psychologists, social workers, counselors, psychiatrists, family therapists, school counselors, and other experienced professionals who work with children and families, and who meet the PREREQUISITES! This is an intermediate level workshop on the knowledge and skill needed to conduct of Filial Therapy effectively.

Description

Learn this remarkable family intervention and prevention approach from Dr. VanFleet, who studied extensively with its founders, Drs. Bernard and Louise Guerney, practiced it with a wide range of client challenges, wrote numerous books, chapters, and articles on it, and is acknowledged as one of the leading authorities in the world on Filial Therapy.

Filial Therapy is a highly effective, empirically-supported intervention integrating family therapy and play therapy to address child and family problems. Therapists learn how to train and supervise parents as they conduct special child-centered play sessions with their own children (ages 3-12+), an approach designed to resolve a wide range of presenting problems while strengthening family relationships.

Filial Therapy has been used successfully with many child and family problems: oppositional behaviors, anxiety, depression, abuse/neglect, single parenting, traumatic events, attachment/adoption/foster care, relationship problems, divorce, family substance abuse, family reunification, chronic illness, families of children with ASD, and many others. A research history spanning more than 50 years has consistently shown Filial Therapy to be cost-effective in facilitating positive and long-lasting child and family change. The use of this relatively short-term, evidence-based approach has increased dramatically worldwide in recent years due to its effective, empowering approach to strengthening families.

Filial Therapy has been used in many different settings. Furthermore, it has been embraced by many cultural and ethnic groups throughout the world because of its respectful involvement of parents as partners in the process of family change. It is unique in its ability to meet the needs of all family members while addressing the reasons the families came for therapy in the first place.

This workshop gives participants all the skills they need to immediately conduct the full family therapy form of Filial Therapy developed by the Guerneys, along with a number of other formats that are available.

Learning Objectives

Participants in this training program will be able to...

1. describe at least 3 advantages of Filial Therapy (parent/child play therapy) over individual play therapy.
2. teach the 4 Child-Centered play therapy skills to parents using mock play sessions.
3. help parents understand the value of play therapy and their involvement in their children's treatment.
4. observe parent-child play therapy sessions and provide constructive feedback to parents to improve their skills.
5. discuss themes of the play therapy sessions with parents to further understanding of the child and the relationship.
6. help parents generalize the use of the play therapy skills to everyday life situations.
7. monitor home-based play therapy sessions between parent and child to ensure maintenance of skills
8. discuss some of the primary research that has been done on this powerful family play therapy approach (Filial Therapy)
9. help parents process their own feelings and dynamic issues that are elicited by the parent-child play therapy sessions.

Prerequisite Training/Reading

Participants must have prior training and supervised experience specifically in Child-Centered Play Therapy/Nondirective Play Therapy, have read the books, Child-Centered Play Therapy (VanFleet et al, Guilford 2010), Filial Therapy (VanFleet, PRP, 2014), and attended a live introductory workshop or distance learning course in Filial Therapy (FT). The distance learning course is an online course, Intro to FT. Both the books and the online course are available at low cost at www.risevanfleet.com/shop. Please attach a brief description of your background & how you meet the prerequisites with the registration form or via an email to Dr. VanFleet. If you do not have the CCPT/NDPT background, please contact Dr. VanFleet so she can suggest ways for you to meet that requirement. If you have questions about any aspect of your background, please contact Dr. VanFleet at rise@risevanfleet.com.

The Training Process

The workshop is very hands-on, with many videos, live demonstrations, and skill practice segments in which participants can develop their competence and confidence in conducting Filial Therapy. The participant-to-instructor ratio is kept very low (6:1) so that individualized feedback can be provided in a safe, friendly, encouraging environment.

The workshop is conducted in a parallel manner to Filial Therapy itself. It is conducted with the participants using the same principles and methods as they eventually use with parents and families. Past participants have given high praise to this approach.

Special Needs

We are committed to making workshops accessible to everyone. Please contact us if you have special needs as early in the process as possible. Please note that there are dogs and cats present on the premises where the workshop is held. Please inform us of any allergies when you register. We can make arrangements in advance to ensure your comfort!!

This workshop and presenter have no conflict of interest in presenting this workshop, nor is there any commercial support.
